

French guy almost drowned today

This is real Water tourism

Today on the excursion of Water tourism Teddy from France wanted to feel the water. He fell out of the canoe and later on he jumped into the water again. But as he said, normal French people don't do that normally.

Nationalist tendencies in Northern Limburg

Yesterday evening there was a Dutch party. The orange dress-code was being followed up by a lot of people. During the evening some typical Dutch games were played and some typical Dutch dances and songs were performed. A few people gave a demonstration of 'Koekhappen' ('cookie biting') and 'stoelendans' ('chairs dance'). Especially the stoelendans was really popular. The game started with more than 20 people and Janneke from Groningen in the end was the winner, thanks to her strongly developed strategic skills. In the final she showed all her skills: she just took the chair and stuck it to her ass which made Tomek from Warsaw absolutely chanceless.

Stefan is still sick from 'cookie biting' and drinking Advocaat. Unfortunately for Stefan the Advocaat didn't end up completely in his mouth; they also put it on his head to test it as a new product to let his hair grow. Although there is still not one hair more on his head, at least his head is now totally disinfected. Stefan was besides that intimidated by the 'cookie biting' skills of Taavi, who managed to eat the whole peppercake in a matter of minutes.

After these games, the people got to know the music of André Hazes after they already adopted his life style (which means drinking a lot of beer). A demonstration was given by the Dutch of the song 'Hoofd schouders knieën teen'. To enable everyone to practice the song for next parties, this is the refrain. In case of pronunciation problems, please contact the organising team.

Naked pirates jump to third place

During the evening the last part of the Olympic Games was also held. The participating teams had to make a string of the clothes they were wearing at that moment. Although the Red Pirates made a huge jump forward in the general classifications by making a string of 19,8 meters they couldn't prevent Kwak Kwak from winning the general classifications. Red Pirates ended 3rd here, Bloody Mary 2nd. The Red Pirates result in the game was absolutely extraordinary. Their string was almost 7 meters longer than the string of the Blue Wales who ended 2nd in the game, partly due to the fact that Marijke, Mhiari and Alexandra took extra points by taking of their bra's. Besides that a good advise for the female members of Red Pirates is to put on less clothes during next parties.

Jacuzzi stories, part IV

Last night Matthijs had a romantic evening with a very beautiful girl. After some nice dances, Matthijs thought it was time for something more intimate, so he invited her into the Jacuzzi. Unfortunately Matthijs didn't remember put on the bubbles in the Jacuzzi. Questions about other relaxation activities are still unanswered.
